6 JULY 1978

SALARY ADJUSTMENT FOR NON-ACADEMIC EMPLOYEES

On 23 June 1978 the Board of Governors approved an across-the-board scale adjustment to schedule of 5.8 percent or $50 per month, whichever is greater, retroactive to 1 April 1978. Implementation will be on the following basis:

1. Full-Time Regular (Type 01) and Part-Time Regular (Type 02) Employees

The retroactive adjustment will be reflected in the July salary cheques.

2. Trust Employees (Types 03 and 04)

It is the responsibility of departments and/or trustholders to initiate forms (Authorization of Appointment for Personnel Paid from Trust or Research Funds) to reflect a salary adjustment not to exceed 5.8 percent or $50 per month, whichever is greater, retroactive to 1 April 1978 or date of appointment, whichever is later.

3. Term Employees (Type 07)

Term employees (Type 07) are eligible to receive the adjustment of 5.8 percent or $50 and it is the responsibility of departments to initiate forms (Authorization of Appointment—Part-Time or Temporary) to reflect the salary adjustment retroactive to 1 April 1978, or date of appointment, whichever is later.

4. Hourly Employees

Departments employing regular hourly employees should adjust their hourly rates equivalent to 5.8 percent or $50 per month, whichever applies, retroactive to 1 April 1978.

Adjusted rates plus retroactive pay should be included on the hourly staff lists or pay requisitions being submitted for the 16 to 31 July pay period.

The hourly rate schedule distributed in April 1978, for casual and summer employment reflected an equivalent adjustment and employees receiving these rates are not eligible for further adjustment at this time.

Subject to the above conditions, this adjustment applies to all employees who were employed on 23 June 1978. Employees on approved leave without pay shall upon return to work receive the salary adjustment and retroactive pay for which they are eligible.

The window pictured above has looked out on the same scene for a number of years now. Looking through the window from the outside, however, reveals some significant changes. The North Power Plant is becoming the Graduate Students' Association's social centre. Renovations will be complete in late August, and the official opening will take place in the fall. The North Power Plant will house GSA offices as well as the social centre, which will include, among other things, a bar, kitchen, lounging areas, and recreation facilities. See page four of this issue of Folio for the proposal for social membership.

INTRODUCING THE UNIVERSITY TO FRESHMEN

Back in the days when the University of Alberta was a small University, when all of the professors knew all of the students and were able to take a personal interest in their welfare, when the loneliness and alienation so common now on large campuses was unheard-of, new students were greeted with a barrage of ordeals and humiliations to initiate them into the scholarly life. Senior students tyrannized the poor freshmen, inflicting on them grotesque haircuts and blackened faces, pointless and demeaning tasks, icy dunkings, and mock trials with heinous penalties. Broken legs and cracked ribs were occasionally recorded as "accidents" associated with some of the more hazardous activities.

"Hazing," as the sum of these practices was called, was looked on benignly by the professoriate as a normal, frolicsome part of the academic life. Any freshman who was fool enough to complain was regarded as a poor sport. One poor sport and his parents finally complained to the point of suing the University in the early 1930s, and since that time, "hazing" has been outlawed at the University of Alberta.

The last vestiges of freshman orientation, the green and yellow beanie and the red "F" lipsticked on the newcomer's forehead, faded away in the 1960s. Initiation was replaced by a more responsible, and considerably kinder, introduction to University life, a survival course if you will.

Freshman Orientation Seminars originated in 1966 as a pilot project of the Students' Union. Although the University administration recognized the need for such a program, especially as the University grew larger and more complex, it preferred that the program be organized by the Students' Union, believing that students would be better able to relate to new students than even the best intentioned administrators.

The first Freshman Orientation Seminars were presented to about fifty new students, two percent of the new first-year admissions for 1966-67. Last year, 1,700 freshmen attended the seminars, some sixty percent of the new first-year students admitted from high schools.

This year there are one hundred seminar leaders, specially trained student volunteers recruited during the last term, offering fifteen weekend seminars and a considerable number of one-day seminars, depending on the number of registrants, from mid-July to the beginning of September.

According to Sharon Bell, the third year Education student who is Director of the Freshman Orientation program, the program's goal is to make the transition into the campus lifestyle easier for new students. "The Freshman Orientation Seminar is the first exposure to the University for ninety-five percent of the participants. We try to answer their questions and give them some insight, from the students' point of view, to help them cope with University life. We feel we have an obligation to give them the fullest information we can, and we are very careful not to pass on wrong information to them."

Uncovering information in an organization as complex and departmentalized as this University is not an easy process. However, the Freshman Orientation program receives assistance from a grant from the Board of Governors to the Students' Union and, according to Ms. Bell, has enjoyed excellent cooperation from most of the departments with which it has to deal.

In large part, the seminars discuss the academic side of University life: how to unravel the mysteries of the Calendar and the complex lists of regulations and courses it contains; how high school and university differ from each other; how to plan a program of study; how marking is done and what such terms as "Grade Point Average" mean; how to study at University; and how to deal with problems with courses.

The seminars also provide general information about University government and organization, student services, finances and financial assistance, extracurricular activities, and ways to avoid or reduce stress in various trying facets of University life. A mock registration is an important part of the seminar, as is a tour of the campus geared to the interests of the students in each group. (The seminars, incidentally, are kept small, to a limit of about thirty-five, and this number is broken down to five or six new students per leader.)

Ms. Bell encourages new students to attend weekend seminars if at all possible, rather than the one-day seminars, which are compressed versions of the longer programs. "We prefer the weekend program, when there are more leaders, more time, and more and longer sessions." Weekend seminars will include special interest sessions on such topics as needs of handicapped students, athletics on campus, faculty associations, Faculté Saint-Jean, residence, fraternities, and student issues. "Meet the Professor" sessions may be held during weekend seminars, with a professor from a faculty appropriate to the group informally discussing the work of his faculty and answering the new students' questions.

In the "Weekend Faculty Night" sessions, a senior student from a particular faculty will discuss that faculty's programs with the new students who are planning to enrol in it, help them plan a prospective program of study (although they strictly avoid counselling them about specific courses), and generally talk about the kind of work and activities to expect in that faculty. (Some faculties, like Education, offer orientation seminars of their own that cover the same specific ground, although in greater detail, for their freshman students. Most, however, do not.)

The seminar organizers try not to inundate the participants with paper, but rather make as much information as possible available to them for them to select from according to their interests. (Departments wishing to distribute material through Freshman Orientation Seminars should contact the Freshman Orientation office, 278 Students' Union Building.)

This year, for the first time, the Freshman Orientation weekend seminars will be held off the University campus. Since 1966, when the program began, the seminars have been held in the Lister Hall residence complex; this summer, Lister Hall will be the athletes' village for the Commonwealth Games. The seminars will move to other locations in Edmonton and elsewhere in the province, where the leaders and participants will still be able to be housed together in a residence setting.

The Freshman Orientation program organizers are happy with this necessary change of location because moving the seminars away from the campus "allows us to bring them closer to the students." The only thing that will be different is the campus tour, which seminar participants will be given later, when they arrive for Registration Week in September, rather than during the seminar.

Weekend seminars will be held at Faculté

SPECIAL CONVOCATION ADDRESS

The following address was given by Vice-President (Academic) Myer Horowitz during the Special Convocation in Legal on Saturday, 3 June, honoring pioneer Alberta horticulturist and author Georges Bugnet.

Mr. Chancellor, as you know, we at the University of Alberta are proud of our classrooms, laboratories, libraries, buildings and grounds, but our University is not just the physical facilities in Edmonton. Primarily, the University is a community of people and so wherever we go to fulfill our academic and professional responsibilities, the University is there with us.

We have been moving into the wider Alberta community ever since our first University of Alberta President, Henry Marshall Tory, identified extension service as a primary task of this University. This past year we have offered credit and non-credit courses in communities from Red Deer to the Northwest Territories and from Jasper to Lloydminster; we have had research stations for agriculture, forestry, engineering, and geology in centres such as Ellerslie and Rocky Mountain House and botanic gardens in Devon; we have provided the first two years of the Bachelor of Education program, primarily to native students, at the Blue Quills School outside St. Paul; we have had medical students in hospitals in Lethbridge, Camrose, and Medicine Hat; and our mobile dental health unit has provided service to children and their families in Manning and Slave Lake.

But today will stand out as a benchmark. This Special Convocation is an indication that our life in the community has come of age. A Convocation is to a university what a coronation is to royalty, what the opening of parliament is to government, what the trooping of the color is to a regiment, what the World Cup Series is to soccer, and what a wedding and a birth are to a family. It is the public celebration of the university. Today we make official and concrete our determination to function in this community. This is our first Convocation outside Edmonton; I hope it won't be our last.

We are away from our usual setting, our Edmonton home, but we are not outside the University. The University is where our students and staff, our Board and Senate, and our Chancellor happen to be. And so for these few minutes on this Saturday afternoon this beautiful Saint Emile Church in Legal is the University of Alberta. We are grateful to the priests and the congregation for permitting us the use of the church.

Congratulations, Georges Bugnet, on your many successful accomplishments and thank you all for allowing us this opportunity to have our joyous university ceremony in this pleasant community of Legal.

GENERAL FACULTIES COUNCIL

The regular meeting of General Faculties Council was held on Monday, 26 June. The following matters were among those discussed.

New Members

Council received the names of two new elected faculty members: G.L. Kulak, Civil Engineering, and M. LeMaguer, Food Science. Council also appointed Anna Altman, University Library, to membership. She had been elected as a representative of Librarians.

Composition of Certain GFC Committees

Council approved four proposals from GFC Executive governing the composition of its major committees: the Executive Committee, the University Planning Committee, the Computer Facilities and Policy Committee, and the Committee for the Improvement of Teaching and Learning.

The proposals from the Executive Committee grew out of a concern expressed to it that these committees should be as broadly representative of the whole University as possible, and that in some instances elected representation had been demonstrably narrow. Several members of GFC felt that the proposals put forward by the Executive made members of the committees into delegates from particular faculties rather than representatives of the interests of the University as a whole.

However, Council agreed "that there shall be no more than one representative of the faculty from any Faculty" on any one of these committees, "except that (a) either the Faculty of Arts or the Faculty of Science may have two representatives on any of these committees providing the two representatives come from different departments and (b) only one of these two faculties may have two representatives at any one time on a committee." It also agreed that "the proposed new structure for ensuring wide representation on certain committees be implemented from now on as new committee members are elected to replace retiring members."

To maintain the same elected component of the University Planning Committee, the Academic Development Committee, and the Campus Development Committee, Council approved an Executive proposal to add an additional academic staff member to the University Planning Committee.

Council also agreed to a proposal from the Executive "aimed at clarifying the intent of General Faculties Council with regard to the status of the elected members of the academic staff on certain committees: that the terminology for the composition of the GFC Executive Committee, the University Planning Committee, the Academic Development Committee, the Campus Development Committee, and the Committee for the Improvement of Teaching and Learning be amended by substituting the term 'faculty' for the term 'academic staff.'"

Originally the proposal used the phrase "teaching faculty" but members of Council thought the inclusion of "teaching" to be redundant.

Council also considered a proposal for restructuring the GFC Library Committee to assure a broader representation of the University and a fixed representation from the Faculties of Education and Law, which house major branches of the University Library. The original proposal came from W.D. Gainer, Chairman of the Library Committee; both Dr. Gainer and Bruce Peel, University Librarian, had written impressing the urgency of making the proposed changes to the Library Committee as soon as possible. In response to their representations, the Executive Committee of GFC recommended "that the present elected members of the Library Committee be invited to resign thus enabling GFC to strike immediately a new committee in conformity with the revised structure."

Again with the concern that structuring the Library Committee to assure participation of specific faculties made the members of the Committee delegates from those faculties rather than representatives of the general University interest, Council did not approve this proposal.

Nominating Committee Report

Council elected these members to serve on the following committees.

GFC Executive Committee: M. Beswetherick,

Nursing; B. Harnden, Business Administration and Commerce; R.T. Berg, Agriculture;

A. Munn, Music; I.G. Dalla Lana, Chemical Engineering; and W.K. Dawson, Physics.

Housing and Food Services Committee:

T. Dennis, Home Economics.

Computing Facilities and Policy Committee:

Neils Jensen, graduate student, Chemical Engineering.

Ad Hoc Committee on Advance Registration:

S. Zaitchik, Nursing; R. Macleod, History;

J. Kuspura, Associate Dean of Science.

Committee on Equal Opportunities:

A. Nitecki, Library Science; J. Lauber, Zoology; W.S. Larson, Physical Plant; K. Hammond, non-academic staff, Psychology; Swee-Hin Toh, graduate student, Educational Foundations.

Campus Development Committee:

K.L. Bowers, Secondary Education.

General Appeals Committee: C.R. James, Chairman of the Department of Electrical Engineering.

Committee on Native Studies: Dwight Bliss, Science-3.

Board-AASUA Agreement Amendments

Council ratified a slate of amendments proposed by the Agreement Review Committee. The detailed changes to the Board-AASUA Agreement may be seen at the AASUA Office; however, highlights of the changes are as follows:

- Extending trial articles governing external committee, discipline, grievance, and termination on the basis of redundancy and financial exigencies for another three-year period to 30 June 1981.
- Incorporating trial articles concerning interpretation of the Agreement, determination and performance of duties, and supplementary professional activities into the "permanent" part of the Agreement.
- Addition of one member to Faculty Tenure Committees and Faculty Rehearing Committees. That member would be a "University representative", since a faculty member's tenure is at the University as a whole, and would be chosen from a panel of ten elected by General Faculties Council.
- Provision that the General Appeals Committee hear appeals of decisions on discipline as well as appeals on decisions on tenure and increments/promotions.
- Provision that the five staff members of a Faculty Rehearing Committee consist of at least four (instead of two) members from the same faculty (as opposed to the same discipline).
- Simplification of the previously complex procedures covering disciplinary actions against a staff member, retaining protections for the individual and provision for appeal to the General Appeals Committee.

▪ Requirement that all interpretations of the Agreement be referred to the Agreement Review Committee.

▪ More flexibility from faculty to faculty in the format and use of the faculty members' annual reports.

▪ Expansion and revision of the section covering supplementary professional activities, including a statement of principle for supplementary activities and provision for more flexibility on this matter from faculty to faculty.

Relevant sections of the Agreement dealing with employment policies, advertising, and selection committees were deleted, since these areas were covered by General Faculties Council policies. Council was informed by G. Unger, Executive Secretary of the AASUA, that subject to funding, these portions of GFC policy would be included in the next printed version of the Academic Staff Agreement.

Departmental Status of Administrative Staff

In April this year, the Executive asked its Chairman to strike a small sub-committee to consider the following questions concerning the departmental status of staff members who hold joint appointments in a department or faculty office: (1) rights and responsibilities of joint appointees (such as voting privileges and eligibility to hold office) where departmental activities are concerned; (2) eligibility of such administrative staff to serve on departmental tenure and/or rehearing committees; and (3) eligibility of such administrative staff to serve on General Faculties Council.

Council approved the recommendation of the sub-committee's report, with the addition (italicized) proposed by the Executive: "A member of staff who holds appointments in a Faculty or other administrative office and a Department has normal academic staff rights in that Department, except in circumstances which may lead to a conflict of interest, the Dean or other appropriate administrative officer to determine when such a conflict exists."

Committee for the Improvement of Teaching and Learning: Terms of Reference

Council approved the revised terms of reference proposed by the Committee for the Improvement of Teaching and Learning. The revision is as follows:

Terms of Reference

- (a) To gather, analyze, and assess information on various aspects of university teaching and learning in order to improve both.
- (b) To initiate research under its own auspices or in conjunction with other individuals, offices, or organizations.
- (c) To publish the findings in parts (a) and (b) above so that more members of the academic community will become aware of ways to improve teaching and learning.

(d) To make recommendations as it sees fit concerning the above three functions.

Composition

The Committee will be composed of eight (8) members of the academic staff, three (3) undergraduate students and one graduate student. All twelve to be elected by General Faculties Council.

Chairperson

The chairperson will normally be elected for a two (2) year term by the Committee from among its members.

Member's Term of Office

The normal term of service on the Committee will be three (3) years for academic staff and one (1) year for students. Nothing is to preclude a member from seeking additional terms of service.

Quorum

Four (4) members of the Committee, including the Chairperson or Chairperson's representative will constitute a quorum.

Reports

Annual reports will be submitted to the Executive Committee of GFC.

NOTICES

Notices must reach the Editor by 9 a.m. the Thursday prior to publication. Written notification is necessary

GSA Proposal for Social Membership

The following information details the proposed guidelines for social membership in the Graduate Students' Association's social centre. At this time the guidelines are tentative, and further information can be obtained from the GSA Office, 232 Assiniboia Hall, telephone 432-2175. It should be noted that the number of social memberships is limited.

There are four membership categories.

- (a) Graduate alumni who paid GSA fees for 1976-77 and 1977-78 and who are no longer members of the GSA are entitled to free membership for up to two years. This option will be offered up to 1988.
- (b) Alumni (graduate and undergraduate) and any student of the University who is twenty-one years of age and above may obtain a membership for $35 per annum.
- (c) University employees (academic and non-academic) who are twenty-one years of age and above can obtain a membership for $45 per annum.
- (d) Any member (social or graduate) can sponsor one person to become a social member at the rates for category (c). A sponsored member cannot sponsor another member.

Appointment

G.E. Myers has been re-appointed Associate Dean of the Faculty of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Sciences. Dr. Myers has been re-appointed for a three-year term effective 1 July 1978.

Access to Lister Hall Restricted

Public access to the Lister Hall Complex will not be permitted during the period from 16 July through 19 August, since during that time, the complex will be used as the Commonwealth Games Village for the athletes. Arrangements have been made to relocate temporarily certain members of the Lister Hall office staff in the area known as the Rocking Chair Lounge on the HUB Mall so they will be accessible to tenants, students, and the general public. They will be at that location during the period from 11 July to 21 August, and the telephone number will be 432-2840.

Commonwealth Conference on Sport, Physical Education and Recreation

The Registration Committee for the sixth Commonwealth Conference on Sport, Physical Education and Recreation requires volunteer workers for the registration at the Conference to be held at the MacDonald Hotel from 29 July to 1 August.

Individuals are needed to help with ticket handling, the registration desk, packet distribution, and related general duties. Volunteers will have the opportunity to meet people from all over the world. Application forms should be submitted as soon as possible. For application forms contact Edith G. Lindstrand, University Pool, telephone 432-3570.

Summer Fitness

The Faculty of Physical Education and Recreation Department of Athletic Services is offering a number of classes over the summer. Participants will learn how to avoid stiffness from exercise, how to do enough for fitness without hurting themselves, how to monitor heart rate, and how to develop an exercise routine suited to individual needs.

There will be three classes in the summer series under the direction of Art Burgess. Early Birds: Tuesday and Friday, 6:45 a.m. to 7:30 a.m. Starts on 4 July.

4 O'clock Quickie: Monday and Thursday, 4:15 p.m. to 5 p.m. Starts on 6 July.

Mid-day Madness: Monday and Wednesday, 11:40 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. Starts on 6 July. There will be twenty sessions in each of the three classes and the fee is $35. For further information, telephone 432-3365.

General Appeals Committee

The General Faculties Council Nominating Committee is seeking nominations for one member of the academic staff to serve on the General Appeals Committee. Those persons who have suggestions for nominations or who are interested in serving on the General Appeals Committee should contact the Secretary of the Nominating Committee, 2-1 University Hall, telephone 432-4715. It would be appreciated if a brief vita could accompany any nomination.

Corrigendum

According to information received from the Public Service Employee Relations Board, it was reported in Folio, 22 June, that the hearing on 12 May concerning the application made by NASA for certification was held before three members of the PSERB including A. MacDonald. A MacDonald, however, was not in attendance. The appearances of the parties were before D. Blair Mason, A. Baranyk, and G. May.

RESEARCH GRANTS

Granting Agencies: Application Deadlines

This list of deadline dates for submissions to granting agencies for research funds, exchange programs, and travel grants is published every month in Folio. In order to allow sufficient time for processing, all applications should reach the Research Grants and Contracts Office at least ten days before the deadline date. Where other University resources are involved, the time requirement may be much longer than ten days and such applications should therefore be submitted well in advance. An extra copy of the application should be provided for the Research Grants and Contracts Office.

Further information may be obtained by consulting the Calendar of Granting Agencies for Research Funds, Exchange Programs, and Travel Grants, which is available in the offices of Deans, Directors of Institutes and Centres, and Department Chairmen, or by telephoning the Research Grants and Contracts Office, 432-5360. Note: Although the Calendar is updated on a continuous basis, the following information could be subject to change without notice. If staff members have advance information on forthcoming changes, the Research Grants and Contracts Office would appreciate being advised. Code: (R) Research funds; (E) Exchange programs; (T) Travel grants.
